

Level of Care Certification by CARF International

The Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) is an independent, nonprofit organization focused on advancing the quality of healthcare services to yield best possible outcomes. CARF provides accreditation services worldwide at the request of health and human service providers.

Level of Care Certification by CARF is the only program of its kind to independently assess and verify the ability of providers to deliver substance use disorder treatment services to adults consistent with levels of care described in American Society of Addiction Medicine's (ASAM) The ASAM Criteria®. Certification demonstrates a provider's capacity to deliver one or more specific ASAM levels of care, thereby differentiating it for payers, regulators, referral sources and persons served. CARF currently certifies ASAM levels of care delivered in residential settings.
