

Emotional health

Emotional health support

Your emotional health is an important part of your overall health and well-being. Taking care of your emotional health is just as important as taking care of your physical health.

Your emotional health affects how you:

- Act
- Feel
- Handle stress
- Make healthy choices
- Relate to others
- Think

Taking care of your emotional health is important for children and adults, and can include¹:

- Being flexible when facing challenges
- Being part of a social network or community
- Creating and living a life with a sense of purpose
- Identifying and improving personal strengths
- Learning from and bouncing back from setbacks
- Making time for hobbies and leisure activities
- Seeing the positive in all situations – even bad situations

For parents

To help take care of your child's emotional health:

- Be available for your children
- Let your kids know you're listening
- Respond in a way your children will hear
